

INNER VISUAL MEMORY AND EXTERNAL PERCEPTION are electrical nerve impulses! There is a thin line between internal and external reality. Your eyes do not “see” the external world. Integrative decoding processes make external perception possible and also produce inner visual images. Many phenomena that are associated with external perception also apply to inner visualization. If your gaze is absolutely fixed on an external object, it will disappear. But if you scan the object, moving your eyes, it will become clearer. Likewise, if you internally fix your gaze on an object, it will disappear; but becomes clearer if you scan it in your mind with closed eyes. Depth perception is another phenomena; you can never see both the foreground and distance of a scene clearly, externally or internally. You must focus on one or the other. Inner visual memory differs from external perception in that it is based on stored, rather than current information.

THE INTEGRATIVE DECODING PROCESSES: How your eyes, brain and memories work! When light strikes an object, its rays are reflected back to your eyes, where the cornea and lens focus them onto the retina, inverting them vertically and horizontally. The retinal surface is made up of two types of cells: rods and cones. Rods are stimulated by low intensity light and register shades of gray; cones are stimulated under bright light and register color. A photochemical reaction takes place in the retinal cells, triggering electrical nerve impulses. The nerve impulses are conducted to the visual area of the brain’s cerebral cortex, which is surrounded by the visual association zone. The association zone registers the electrical stimuli from the nerve impulses as meaningless patterns of light; then decodes and makes sense of them, but it does not form an actual image from the electrical nerve impulses. The decoding process is a learned ability. People blind from birth, whose sight has been restored through surgery, only perceive light. They have to learn to turn light patterns into meaningful images. Next to the visual association zone is the silent area of the brain’s temporal lobe, where external visual and auditory sensory experiences are stored as memories as if permanently recorded on sound film ready to replay.

From the eye to the brain’s visual association area, the system functions much like a computer. Beyond this state virtually nothing is known about the evolving patterns of cortical activity. It is thought that memories are made of engram, a congealed (jelled; solidified by cooling) neuronal pattern ready to be replayed by an appropriate input. Millions of neurons or brain nerve cells are involved in a single memory. The working of the brain is a patterned activity, formed by the curving and looping of electrical wavefronts through a multitude of neurons that sprout up, coalesce together with other wavefronts, then reverberate back through the same path. Thus all you need to do to experience an image is for the right neuronal pathways to fire. It does not matter whether they fire because of stimulations to the retina or other sense organs, or because of an internal stimulus. An electrode placed in the silent area of a patient’s temporal lobe while in surgery will stimulate them to experience vivid visual images from past memories.

BE PRAYER: Learn to meditate using radionics! Your brain’s left hemisphere controls your body’s right side and involves automatic analytical, linear thinking; the right hemisphere controls your left side and involves inner visual and intuitive thought and seeing with the mind’s eye. The mystic experience is brought about by meditation exercises (radionics), wherein you concentrate on a single object, thought, geometric form, work of art, dream, daydream or on a craft project. This exercise alters your automatic responses to the many separate objects around you and helps you enter into a state of unity and intuition. If you develop your intuitive side, you can control physical energies and become detached from the external world of pride and selfishness!

“DEAR CHILDREN: I am calling you to BE PRAYER for all those who do not pray. Little children, witness with your lives the joy that you are mine and God will heed your prayers and give you peace in this peaceless world, where pride and selfishness reign. Little children, be generous and be the love of my love, so that pagans can feel that you are mine and convert to my Immaculate Heart. Thank you for responding to my call” (Med. 7/25/21).

HOW TO DEVELOP YOUR INTERNAL MENTAL POWERS! To Overcome Satan's Deceptions, Pray Controlling Your Mind!

“DEAR CHILDREN: My heart is joyful because through these years I see your love and openness to my call. Today I am calling all of you: pray a rosary with me for peace and freedom because Satan is strong and by his deception wants to lead away all the more hearts from my motherly heart. That is why decide for God so that it may be good for you on the earth, which God gave you. Thank you” (Med. 6/25/21).

SEEING WITH THE MIND'S EYE (1975) is a book by Mike Samuels M.D. and Nancy Samuels. In this series I abridge the book and integrate it with Mary's current messages, the Catholic calendar, current events, and messages from Archangel Michael from Series 7. Through this integrative process, I decode a meaningful message. In March 2020, under the guise of COVID, government leaders closed all churches, labeling them “non-essential.” Church leaders, all those whose spirituality was external and not internal, were blinded in their minds by sin and decided to comply with Satan's deception, thus waiving our First Amendment freedoms. On March 25th, Mary declared, “Satan is reigning!” She says he wants peacelessness and war, but with prayer and fasting we can suppress wars. Michael says that we have forgotten our telepathic abilities and must learn to access them to bring about peace. Our inner abilities are a more advanced technology than any technology on Earth today. Mind radionics is an ancient meditation technique used to access them by opening your mind's eye—your third eye. It uses an image as a focal point to help your mind become quiet, free of intruding thoughts. Then you can control your electrical thought patterns to affect energy fields and access intuitive ideas from higher realms. Praying a rosary, while focusing on the mysteries of the Gospel, is a form of radionics (card 6). Use it to energetically affect people, places, events and objects. Michael says humanity must pass eight tests to prove their self-mastery and self-sovereignty—we must master our telepathic powers and fight to maintain our freedoms—to be able to graduate, ascend, and begin the millennial reign. The eighth test is a war to control our minds. Psychotronic weaponry is an advanced technology that uses extremely low frequencies, transmitted through cell phones and other technology, to energetically control our thoughts, body functions, emotions and will. The low frequencies can cause people to hear words and see images in their mind, have mental and physical illnesses, and even kill themselves. To help suppress psychotronic thoughts, the higher realms are transmitting extremely high frequencies to those who develop their mind power using radionics. Chapters 4 and 5: “Varieties of Visualization Experience” and “Visualization and Perception.”

TO OVERCOME SATAN'S DECEPTIONS develop your mental powers—learn how your mind works! Memory, imagination, and daydreams are all inner visual images. Learning the differences between inner images helps you become aware of your internal processes and to see with your mind's eye. Since man began to analyze his experiences, he has tried to define and explain the inner processes of his mind—experiences that are invisible to others because they do not have physical referents. Philosophers have speculated on the nature of mental imagery. Psychologists have explored and labeled them into eight categories of mental imagery and internal processes.

MEMORY IMAGES: If you remember a person, place, event or object, you automatically form a mental picture of it—you see it with your mind's eye. If you close your eyes, they move beneath your lids as you view the details in your mind. The way you feel may change. Memory images are a reconstruction or resurrection of past perceptions, categorized by their controllability and vividness. Some people recall vivid details quickly; others recall details slowly and vaguely. Some can move images around in their mind. Memories can be evoked by smells, sounds and touch; and can be summoned or arise spontaneous and can be controlled—stopped at will.

“DEAR CHILDREN: In a motherly way, I am calling you to return to the joy and the truth of the Gospel—to return to the love of my Son, because He is waiting for you with open arms; that everything you do in life you do with my Son, with love; that it may be blessed for you; so that your spirituality may be internal, and not just external. Only in this way will you be humble, generous, filled with love and joyful; and my motherly heart will rejoice with you” (annual message through the visionary Mirjana; Med. 3/18/21).

EIDETIC IMAGES are a vivid form of memory images similar to photographic memory, except eidetic imagers project mental images, viewing them externally! They view detailed images quickly and then recall precise details years later. School-age children often experience eidetic memory. It is an underlying phenomenon of the learning process, but diminishes in adolescence when abstract thought and higher verbal skills develop. Our culture does not encourage them to maintain or expand their eidetic skills. We place more value on our ability to categorize and label experiences, rather than on our ability to recall the experience of the images around us.

IMAGINATION IMAGES contain elements of past perceptions, rearranged creatively in a new and different way than originally perceived. A continuum between imagination images exists—they begin from a past perception and continue into newly created material that does not exist in external reality, but is substantial and vividly colored. Through imagination you can see yourself doing the impossible—creating a new reality. Imagination imagery is used in problem solving. It requires concentration and quasi-hypnotic attention, free of intruding thought.

DAYDREAMS AND FANTASIES involve memory and imagination images in which you fantasize about past experiences or about future hopes, anticipating a new experience. They involve known and unknown people, places, events and objects in chronological scenes, like watching a film in your mind. While daydreaming you do not separate yourself from your thoughts nor tend to analyze them. But they are a form of visualization, used to intuit ideas from higher realms.

DREAMS: People dream of familiar and unfamiliar people, places, events and objects, jumbled together. Extremely vivid and detailed dreams, called Hypnagogic dreams, occur just preceding sleep; hypnopompic states occur just before waking. Dreams contain memory and imagination images in which you have little or no conscious control over. In dreams you do not distinguish between inner and outer reality. You participate in the dream and may even think it really took place. Your body may react and you scream out loud from a nightmare. Dreams break the laws of causality, of time and space chronology, and of rational thought. They can help you find solutions to problems. Vivid prophetic dreams are inner images connected to outer reality.

VISIONS OR HALLUCINATIONS: People who experience these extremely vivid visions believe they occur in the outer world. They are often the source of creative inspiration. People who have visions or hallucinations are sometimes diagnosed as psychotic. Visions or hallucinations are sometimes brought on while praying, meditating, using drugs, during a high fever, through sensory deprivation, in repetitive boring situations, or repeated auditory bleeps or flashing lights.

AFTER IMAGES: After looking at a bright light or image against a dark background, close your eyes. For a few seconds you will continue to see light flashing against a dark background, followed by a negative after-image. If the image was in black and white, the tones of the after-image are reversed. If the image was in color, the after-image is seen in complimentary colors.

RECURRENT IMAGES are experienced by those who spend prolonged periods staring at the same thing. They may occur immediately after looking at it, or when they rest and close their eyes.
